Recommendation and Presentation of Candidates for Associate Degrees and Certificates

Margaret Bartow, Ed.D.,
Provost

The Grand Marshal will stand and signal the first row of graduates to stand. The first row of graduates will proceed to the stairs at the right of the stage (as you face it), forming a single line. When your name is called, walk across the stage and accept the diploma cover from Dr. Parker in your left hand, shaking hands with your right. Proceed down the opposite stairs, return to your seat, and be seated. When there are three graduates remaining at the stairway, the Grand Marshal will signal the second row to stand and follow in order. The third and succeeding rows will follow the same patterns. When the last graduate returns to his/her seat, the honorary marshals will return to their seats.

Conferral of Associate Degrees and Awarding of Certificates

Jerome S. Parker

When the last graduate has returned to his/her seat, Dr. Parker will step to the podium and the Grand Marshal will signal the graduates to stand. Dr. Parker will confer the degrees and award the certificates with a brief statement. At the conclusion of this statement, the Grand Marshal will turn, face the graduates, and signal them to change the tassel from the right to the left side of the mortarboard using the right hand. Please be seated. The music for the recessional march will begin and the honorary marshals will proceed to lead the graduates out.
