Area Programs in Radiologic Technology

Drexel University at 1601 Cherry Street
Two-year Associate’s degree in Radiologic Technology. The Certificate in Radiologic Technology is no longer offered.
www.drexel.edu
http://www.drexel.edu/cnhp/radiologic_technology/welcome.asp

*Thomas Jefferson University at 132 South 10th Street Full time, 24 month, Bachelor’s degree. Several programs of study in the Radiologic Sciences are offered, including: Radiography, Diagnostic Medical Sonography, Nuclear Medicine, Cardiac Sonography, Vascular Sonography, Radiation Therapy, Medical Dosimetry, Computed Tomography, Magnetic Resonance Imaging, Invasive Cardiovascular Technology.
www.jefferson.edu
http://www.jefferson.edu/university/jmc/departments/radiology.html

Gwynedd-Mercy College in Gwynedd Valley
Bachelor of Science degree program in conjunction with the Abington Memorial Hospital School of Radiologic Technology and completed through Thomas Jefferson University School of Health Professions.
http://www.gmercyu.edu/
http://www.gmercyu.edu/academics/undergraduate-programs/nursing/radtech-bachelors

Harcum College in Bryn Mawr Associate’s degree in Radiologic Technology (76 credits can be completed in 6 semesters)
www.harcum.edu

Holy Family University Northeast in Bensalem Township
Associate Degree Program in Radiologic Science. Full time, 20-month, 73 credit, allied health curriculum designed to prepare the student for practice in the health specialty of radiography.
Must attend an information session
www.holyfamily.edu

Immaculata University in Chester County Bachelor’s degree in Allied Health with specialization in Diagnostic Medical Sonography (Radiology) or Nuclear Medicine Technology http://immaculata.edu/academics/departments/healthsciencesandservices/radiology

Crozer Chester Medical Center in Chester Diagnostic Ultrasound – 18 month advanced program – may require bachelor’s degree and/or a background in the medical field for admission.
http://www.crozerkeystone.org/healthcare-professionals/allied-health/

*Please refer to the DCCC/Thomas Jefferson University transfer guide.
The University of Pennsylvania at 3400 Spruce Street Full time, two-year Radiologic Technology Educational Program sponsored by the University of Pennsylvania Medical Center.
http://www.uphs.upenn.edu/radiology
http://www.uphs.upenn.edu/radiology/about/divisions/

Montgomery County Community College in Blue Bell – inquire about Shared Program Associate's degree in Radiography (70 credit program completed in 2 years) www.mc3.edu/
http://www.mc3.edu/academics/areas-of-study/health-sciences/radiography

Community College of Philadelphia at 1700 Spring Garden Street Associate’s degree in Diagnostic Medical Imaging (76 credit program)
www.ccp.edu
http://ccp.edu/node/388

Shared Programs with Philadelphia, Bucks and Montgomery County Community Colleges allow students living in a sponsoring school district to pay sponsoring rates at these other community colleges for certain programs not offered in student’s home college. Students must first be authorized to participate in this program by the director of admissions.