

APA Citation Guide

Beginning in 2009, APA requires a digital object identifier (doi) whenever possible. To locate a doi or look up an article from a doi go to: CrossRef.org

Indent the second line of each reference (and all subsequent lines) using a ½ inch hanging indent (in Microsoft Word under Paragraph then Special indentation).

Alphabetize the references by author's last name and double-space all references.

The examples below are based on the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 6th ed. (2010), available at the library reference desk (REF BF 76.7 .P83 2010).
